Inspector GADGET

We can send a man to space, build jets that have an 800-person capacity and give someone a brand-new heart. But technology has also gifted us with a couple of other little discoveries. Here, we trial some of the hippest electronic and mechanical beauty gizmos around. BY AMY STARR

6. INTRACEUTICALS ATOXELENE LINE WAND, $125, 1300 725 660

The claim "Smooths and visibly reduces fine lines and wrinkles without pain or injections in a portable, take-anywhere, anytime pen."

The lowdown With Atoxylene (a relaxant designed to smooth out lines) and hyaluronic acid for hydration, this wand is like Botox for needle-phobes.

The experience Operating much like Yves Saint Laurent's famous Touche Éclat, this pen oozes out a little of the serum which makes it easy to paint on.

The conclusion I certainly felt more hydrated in the eye area. I couldn't discern a visible reduction in wrinkles but the skin around my eye did look more relaxed. If I could commit to the stuff as per the suggested 30 days,

I might be more impressed, but pfft, I can barely commit to a man that long...

Off-label applications My wind-chapped lips have never felt so hydrated.
